“When Christ Enters, Darkness Loses Its Power”

Every one of us carries a name in our heart someone who is struggling, stubborn, wounded, or trapped in a darkness they cannot seem to escape. Their choices may cause us anguish, and their resistance to God's grace can feel painfully personal. Today's Scriptures speak directly into that ache.

The prophet Isaiah announces a promise that changes everything: darkness does not have the final word. God Himself becomes light for His people. This promise is fulfilled in Jesus Christ, whose very presence transforms regions overshadowed by despair into places of hope. Where Christ enters, healing begins, chains are broken, and a new future opens.

Jesus knows the anguish we feel for others. In Luke's Gospel He cries out, “How great is my anguish until it is accomplished!” (Lk 12:50). Our pain for those who are far from God is not a sign of failure it is a sign that our hearts are aligned with His. As Saint Augustine reminds us, “God had one Son on earth without sin, but never one without suffering.” To love deeply is to suffer deeply, but it is also to hope deeply.

Prayer, then, is not about changing God's mind. The Church teaches that prayer unites us to God's saving work already underway. As the Catechism says, “In hope, the Church prays for the ‘coming of the Kingdom of God’” (CCC 2817). When we pray for those in darkness, we place them into the arms of Divine Providence trusting that God can even use the painful consequences of sin to awaken hearts and lead them home.

Saint Monica prayed for years through tears for the conversion of her son Augustine. Her perseverance bore fruit not only in his conversion, but in a saint whose light still guides the Church. Augustine later wrote, “You have made us for Yourself, O Lord, and our hearts are restless until they rest in You.” No soul is beyond the reach of that restlessness stirred by grace.

Saint Paul's warning to the Corinthians reminds us that living in the light must change us. Division, quarrels, and pride are signs that shadows still linger. “A Christian community that has truly encountered Christ cannot remain the same.” Where Christ's light reigns, unity replaces division, humility overcomes pride, and love triumphs over rivalry.

Like in physics, the closer we draw to the light, the smaller our shadows become. Saint Teresa of Ávila said, “God alone suffices.” When Christ lives in us (cf. Gal 2:20), His light exposes our fears, heals our wounds, and empowers us to become light for others.

This Sunday, the Church invites us not to settle for lesser lights comfort, routine, or self-reliance but to walk boldly in the light of Christ. Where His light shines, despair fades, sins lose their grip, and joy is reborn.

May we draw closer to Christ, the Light of the world, trusting that even now He is at work in the hearts of those we love. And as we walk in His light, may others be able to say of us: “Those who lived in darkness have seen a great light.”

Jesus, I Trust in you

Development And Peace

Next weekend (31st January & 1st February) there will be a second collection for the Winter Welcome Table. Each year we are invited to help financially by contributing a donation to help pay for a home cooked meal for people who visit St Peter's for dinner on Mondays during the winter months. We all know how expensive food these days is. There are greater numbers of people struggling to put food on the table. If you are able, we invite you to donate what you can next weekend in the second collection. You will find an envelope attached to your bulletin this weekend which you can return next weekend. Thank you in advance for your continued generosity.

Fair Trade Weekend – January 24/25

Next weekend, Development and Peace is hosting our first 2026 Fair Trade Weekend (Jan. 24/25) after the Saturday 5:30 Mass and the Sunday 10:00 Mass. This is a great resolution for 2026: to support fair wages, working conditions and environmental practices for workers around the world by supporting the Fair-Trade movement.

Catholic Social Teaching Video and Conversation Series

All are welcome to our next video on Sunday February 8th which will explain Laudato Si', Pope Francis' letter on care for our common home. Every second Sunday of the month from January to April, bring your coffee and join Creation Care Ministry in the Friars' Lounge where we will watch a short video and host a conversation circle on Catholic Social Teaching after the 10 AM mass and ending by noon. Pope Francis added Laudato Si' to the body of the Church's social teaching on economic, political, social and cultural issues. Please also visit Creation Care Ministry's bulletin board in the parish hall to learn more about Catholic Social Teaching.

"Everything is connected. Concern for the environment thus needs to be joined to a sincere love for our fellow human beings and an unwavering commitment to resolving the problems of society." Pope Francis, Laudato Si' #91
